Eileen Catherine Bradley was born on February 20, 1946, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, the first daughter of two children of the late William and Helen Bradley. Eileen was educated in the Philadelphia Parochial School System, graduating from West Catholic Girls High School.

Eileen went on to complete her degree as a Registered Nurse at the Philadelphia General Hospital. She worked in the adolescent and drug rehabilitation wards at Friends Hospital for eight years. In 1972, Eileen made a career change to law enforcement and began her professional journey with Temple University Campus Police.

She graduated top of the class in her recruit police training and would go on to become the first female patrol officer in the City of Philadelphia. Several years later, she became the first woman from Pennsylvania to graduate from the Intercounty Detective School Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Eileen had two major priorities in life: the care for her sister Donna and dedication to Temple University and North Philadelphia communities.
