

Pesamino N. Kelekolio

November 13, 1966 - March 19, 2024

Pesamino N. Kelekolio, 57, passed away on March 19, 2024, due to a sudden heart attack. He is survived by his wife Lynne Kelekolio and his two daughters Jill and Anne. Pesamino was born on November 13th, 1966 in American Samoa, he was the youngest of 11 with 3 brothers and 7 sisters. As a child they brought him to Hawaii, then Washington during his teenage years, and eventually he made his way over to the East Coast for college.

In his early years of adulthood, Mino ran Cherry Street Cafe, a small corner cafe in Philadelphia. While working there, he was lucky to meet a talented artist studying at Moore College of Art and Design who later became his wife, Lynne. They married in Connecticut on August 23rd, 1993, and later found their forever home in Bala Cynwyd in the early 2000s. After renovating the whole house, this would be where they raised their two daughters together.

Throughout his life, Pesamino wore many hats, primarily working in the restaurant industry. He was always a smiling face and the excited organizer of Secret Santa or March Madness. His booming laugh and jarringly loud sneezes would catch the attention of many. He was a hard face to forget and a name to remember. As he moved on in life, he dedicated his time to becoming a property manager with Airbnb. Mino was always ready to get in his truck and take the people he loved on an adventure, his favorite being the ones to the beach.

Mino and Lynne faced many challenges together, the primary being Lynne's battle with Huntingtons disease. Throughout their life together, Mino did everything he could to keep Lynne safe and happy. He loved spending time with Jill and Anne, from watching them play rugby to taking them to his favorite restaurants. His family and friends were his biggest priority in life, nothing would make him happier than seeing them all together.

His service will be held at St. Peter and Paul's Basilica on April 8th from 8:30 am - 12:00 pm.

“ Anne and Jill, I am so sorry for the loss of your Dad. I went to high school with him, he was one of my best friends growing up. We walked together at graduation. When he moved to Philadelphia and broke his leg I flew out to see him. He was in town a couple of years ago and we met up for dinner, all he talked about was how proud he was of you two. I just learned of his passing last night and I watched you both on the video of the funeral. He prepared you well, we talked about how hard that is, I have 2 girls too. I know you will miss him but he will always live inside you with the things he has instilled in you both. Hugs and prayers to you both ❤️

“ So many memories with Mino. He had this car that the window would fall down if you opened the drivers door. When he first got it we drove to McDonalds and I asked him to go through the drive thru. He forgot about the window and I busted a gut as he yelled trying to get the employee to ring up some cheeseburgers. He was a great guy and a friend to everyone. So sorry to hear he has passed.

So sorry to hear about this. I remember Mino from high school and the very first time he ever saw snow. He was running thru the hallways shouting its snowing, it's snowing, he was so excited! Sending healing thoughts and prayers.
