“ Hey Big Dawgie,

Man words can't describe how much I miss our buddy ole pal. Number .#7 keeps appearing in my dreams- I know it's you sending your love (or trying to mess with me 🤪) I remember we used to fight over who would get the #7 to wear for the Bucks when we played at for the Rob tournament at FSA. I won that argument - one of the only arguments I would ever win with you 🤪🤪 I miss your voice and the constant "where's Katie at" lol it makes me crack up everytime I think of it. Man is it boring out here in Ohio - you would definitely not like the burbs of Ohio but I know you would love Cincinnati. Cinci is right up your alley and Kentucky lol Nothing is the same without you pal. God we miss you so much. Until we meet again buddy. Love you forever!

“ Seeing all of your friends today is another tribute to how special you are. There is nothing in the world that will ever fill the hole in my heart. The bond we shared will always be between us - that was our style. Olive street will never be the same. Love you always.

“ My condolences to the Hunt family. Ty was someone I looked up to as a freshman at Masterman, playing sports with him for two years. He was such a nice guy and easy to look up to because he always had my back. We grew close and even after he left, we stayed in touch. I am heartbroken to hear about his passing. What a great friend, may his spirit live on forever.

“I'll always remember the first year of Masterman baseball — Ty was a freshman. I'd known him as “Evan's younger brother” previously, but quickly learned that he was very much his own person. I liked him immediately— always had a smile on his face and was quick to share a laugh. Not to mention he could BALL. I loved watching him hit, knowing there would never be a moment too big for him, even as a 15 year old kid. Im heartbroken over his loss, but happy to have known him, brief as it was. Love u buddy RIP.

“ I first met Tyler on a random weekday in 2019 at the Black Taxi watching the Flyers. We got along great, but I assumed that was where it would end. We didn't exchange numbers and I assumed that would be the last I would see of him.

A few weeks later, the Eagles season was starting up and I was looking for a place to watch the games. As I walked by the Black Taxi, there was Tyler, a drink in hand, arguing with people I didn't know about whether or not to fire Howie Roseman. Ty and I made eye contact and he recognized me right away, calling me over to join his friends. Little did I know how meaningful that moment would be. Thanks to Ty, I found a new group of friends at a time when I was still new to Fairmount and didn't know many people.

So many of my best moments and favorite memories over the last few years I owe to Tyler (and boy did he never let me forget it, in that annoying, lovable way that only Ty could). And it wasn't just having people to share a drink, go out at night, or yell about the Eagles with (though we did plenty of all three). It was the feeling of belonging. Ty gave me that and he had this incredible ability, wherever he went, to make anyone feel like they belonged too.

Ty was the first friend I made in Fairmount. Words cannot express how blessed I feel to have had him in my life and how hard it's going to be without him. But I will always treasure the time I had with him and how much he made me feel like I belonged.

May his memory forever be a blessing

“ I have been friends with Suzette and Brian forever, it seems. Tyler was a bright light to all who knew him. Always gave a big, "Hey, Ellen!" and a hug whenever I saw him. Knew him since he was a baby in Suzette's arms. May his memory be a blessing, and may he rest in peace eternally.

Lucky enough to have two great sons. Tyler was kind loving with a great sense of humor. He loss will last forever. Fairmount outreach has cushioned this hurt. Too many to thank but Fairmount Sports, Parkway VFW have been holding our hands. I loved him will miss him as others. His wake at Dinan's was according to Chris Dinans was the largest he could remember. A shout-out to his brother who makes the word bother special. A large thanks to those who made donations to Fairmount Sports. With love Brian Hunt
